

The „recipe” of innovative ecosystems

DRAFT

Brussels, 6 June 2018

According to economic studies, one of the key drivers of growth is technology and knowledge intensive activities that goes hand in hand with the coordinated and efficient collaboration of the universities, public authorities and businesses.

The conference aims at assessing the successful “recipe” for creating innovative local ecosystems, in particular the role of knowledge transfer, skills development of SMEs and students, services delivered to innovative SMEs and what answers policies can be given to such challenges.

8:30-9:00	Registration
9:00- 9:10	Welcome address by the Deputy Permanent Representative, H.E. Tibor Stelbaczky
9:10-9:20	Keynote speech by Jean–Philippe Gammel, Member of the Cabinet of Commissioner Tibor Navracsics
9:20-10:30	Roundtable discussion How will the different policy initiatives interlink and reinforce each other in the light of the next MFF Giorgi Dimitrov , Deputy Head of Unit Innovation and EIT (DG EAC) Stephane Ouaki , Head of Unit Open Innovation and Open Science (DG RTD) Ulla Engelmann , Head of Unit Clusters, Social Economy & Entrepreneurship (DG GROW)
10:30- 12:00	Examples from the Visegrád 4 countries, on how did university - business collaboration triggered changes at the university and in the local/regional industry sector Jiří Brejcha (Czech Republic) Zsolt Kovács , Széchenyi István University (Győr, Hungary) Magdalena Kasprzyca , the Eugeniusz Geppert Academy of Art and Design, (Wroclaw, Poland) Maroš Halama , Promatech, National Research Centre for Advanced Materials and Technologies (Kosice, Slovakia)
12.00	Closing remarks by the moderator

The logo for CZELO, with 'CZ' in blue, 'E' in yellow, and 'LO' in blue.

Permanent Representation of Hungary
to the European Union

The event is followed by lunch reception.

The event will be moderated by Marton Hajdu, Head of Sector, JRC.

Please register at http://geform.tc.cz/V4_innovative by the 2nd of June.

Venue: Permanent Representation of Hungary to the EU

92-98 rue de Trèves, 1040 Brussels